M'CANDLESS INTIMATES REPUBLICAN OFFICE HOLDERS GOING UNDER FIRE

A. E. Carter Slated for Appointment as Fire Chief, W. A. Wall as City Engineer.

Electrical engineer—John T. Carey. Fire chief—A. E. Carter, harbor officer. City engineer and superintendent of water and sewer departments—W. A. Wall.

That the Democratic county committee is seriously considering making the foregoing recommendations for appointments to Mayor Joseph J. Fern, is the summary of information coming from authoritative sources in Bourbon political circles today.

While the Democratic county committee has not met to devise a scheme of concerted action, the consensus of opinion in the Bourbon camp appears to be that the foregoing list is the one which will be endorsed by the county committee.

Speaking with regard to the purported plan to combine the office of city engineer with that of water and sewer superintendent, one Democratic leader said today:

"The Democrats have political debts to pay, but the party is not going to support a policy of taking the people's money to create or maintain unnecessary offices. We intend to economize wherever possible to give the city and county the best service."

Senator M. C. Pacheco is being mentioned for the mayor's secretary, as is William E. Miles, who was secretary to Fern when he was in office before.

Reports have it that the Democrats will attempt to let out William L. Frazer, superintendent of the city electric light plant, and suggest to Mayor Fern that he appoint John T. Carey, who was up for Democratic nomination as supervisor in the primary campaign, but failed to land. Harbor Officer Carter appears to be the choice of many party leaders to succeed Fire Chief Thurston.

Just what the Democrats will do toward overcoming any opposition that the Republicans may make to new appointments by Mayor Fern has not been decided.

"When the Republicans were successful two and a half years ago," said a Bourbon leader, "they did not leave one Democrat in office anywhere."

"We have not yet decided on any definite plan to offset Republican opposition to Mayor Fern's appointments. I know of two Democrats who were told last Wednesday morning they were no longer wanted by the Republicans. This shows the attitude of the Republicans toward the Democrats."

In the case of L. L. ("Link") McCandless, Democratic leader, the Republicans cannot change the county statutes for political gain, as this is a function only of the legislature, but he points out that, in the matter of city ordinances, they have control over them subject to the veto of the mayor.

Summing up generally the political situation, McCandless says:

"I have seen a great many accounts in the newspapers that the Republicans intended to do this and that. But if they understand the wishes of the general public they will allow Mayor Fern to make his appointments, providing that at all times they are within reason. Of course, if they want to be nasty and fight the Democratic mayor, they may possibly gain temporary success."

"But in the end they will lose, because the public has elected Fern in the face of local newspapers stating constantly that Mayor Fern would remove Thurston, Frazer, Murray, Collins and many other Republican office holders, and therefore it is Mayor Fern's duty to do this, as the people have elected him to do it."

PALAMA HEAD PREPARES CAMP

James A. Rath, head worker of Palama settlement, left Honolulu this morning for the fresh air camp near Waiwala to prepare for the advent of about 50 kiddies June 25. Hundreds of Honolulu's youngsters are looking forward to the annual two-week treat at the country camp beach.

Last year only 50, including mothers and their children, could be accommodated at one time but additions have been made since to make room for 60. The camp fronts on the water and grass and trees which were planted two years ago now afford an ideal playground.

Miss Reba L. Dobson, one of Palama settlement's trained nurses, will accompany the first delegation, and other nurses in turn will go to the country during the three-month period the camp remains open. The nurse in charge attends to the physical and medical needs of the child and a system of weighing "before and after" has shown that the children put on weight quickly with proper air, food and surroundings.

It costs about $3 a week to care for one child at the camp or $6 for his vacation. Rath announces there is never too much money in the treasury for this purpose and urges Honoluluans not to forget the children of the island.

On each trip a different district is favored. The first time this year most of the mothers and children come from Kailua.
